Current Responsibility

Paul Marron is a principal and consulting actuary in Milliman's Dublin office. He joined the company in 2020.

Professional Work Experience

Paul leads Milliman Dublin's outsourcing division, providing outsourced actuarial modelling, reporting, and capital management services to clients. He is responsible for the delivery of actuarial reporting results monthly, quarterly, and annually across a range of GAAP and regulatory metrics for an international range of life insurance products and portfolios. He manages teams in Ireland and India to support the production of results, analysis, and commentary.

He has deep expertise in finance transformation projects where he has hands-on experience in designing and establishing actuarial departments from the ground up, and subsequently managing these departments.

He has worked with clients reviewing "target operating models" for actuarial reporting, as well as independently reviewing reporting methodologies, modelling systems, and actuarial bases.

Paul has significant VA hedging experience having developed, implemented, and operated hedging strategies for an international variable annuity writer.

Paul has more than 15 years' industry experience. Prior to joining Milliman, Paul worked with Athora and Aegon Ireland, where he held a range of senior roles in actuarial valuation, actuarial modelling, and hedging/risk management.
