SEATTLE – August 6, 2020 – Milliman, Inc., a premier global consulting and actuarial firm, today announced the addition of John-Paul Augeri to its global retirement and benefits team. Augeri will be responsible for providing multinational employers with comprehensive employee benefit solutions.

“Our clients know that we’re committed to giving them independent expertise, at a time when independent expertise is increasingly hard to come by,” said Milliman Global Employee Benefits Director Jeff Budin. “John-Paul Augeri’s well-timed arrival will allow us to further integrate and expand our global employee benefit capabilities.”

Milliman services multinational benefit clients through its more than 60 offices worldwide and via its joint venture, MBWL International. Multinational clients turn to Milliman and MBWL for unique expertise in global retirement, benefits, and mergers and acquisitions. Augeri, who has served as a benefit leader at large consultancies, will be responsible for integrating and expanding these efforts.

“Milliman is a special organization because of its independence and its unique expertise in retirement security and benefits consulting,” said Augeri. “Milliman is also a global leader in M&A work, with the broad perspective to bring the best expertise to today’s complex financial transactions.”
